SECOND REQUEST FOR REFUND

Sir:

A copy of our Credit Card Account Statement, with a closing date of January 26, 2006 is enclosed and indicates at page 4, a $1380 Filing Fee Payment on December 27, 2005 to the USPTO for this application.

This $1380 payment corresponds to our Credit Card Payment form, dated December 15, 2005 (copy enclosed) filed with the application to authorize our payment of $1380 for the Filing Fee for this application.

Although this application was filed with the Inventors' Declaration, applicant's filing fee payment of $1380 included an inadvertent overpayment of $130 for late filing of the Inventors' Declaration. We thus submitted an April 7, 2006 Request for Refund (copy enclosed) of the $130 overpayment. So far no refund has been granted.

As you will note, the Filing Receipt (copy enclosed) indicates a filing fee of $1150. Our Filing Fee of $1380 included a $500 payment for the National Stage Search Fee, whereas the actual National Stage Search Fee is $400. Thus our Filing Fee payment of $1380 also included an inadvertent overpayment of $100 for the Search Fee.

The overpayment of $130 for the Declaration and the overpayment of $100 for the Search Fee represents an inadvertent overpayment of $230.

We checked our monthly USPTO Deposit Account statements and our monthly Credit Card Statements for a six-month period following the December 15, 2005 file date of this application. We found no credit from the USPTO for the inadvertent overpayment of $230.

Astonishingly, our Deposit Account Statement of March 31, 2006 (copy enclosed) indicates a new charge of $400 for this application for a National Stage Search Fee. However, as detailed above, we not only paid the National Stage Search Fee when the application was filed, but we overpaid by $100.

The USPTO thus received an inadvertent overpayment of $230 when the application was filed and then proceeded to charge, without justification, an additional $400 from our Deposit Account, for a Search Fee that was previously paid.

Our inadvertent overpayments and unjustifiable overcharges by the USPTO for this application now total $630.

Please refund the $630 in excess fees that were received by the USPTO for this application to our Deposit Account 18-1643. Thank you.

Respectfully submitted,

REQUEST FOR REFUND

Sir:

Applicants inadvertently included in their Filing Fee an unnecessary payment of $130 for late filing of the Inventors' Declaration.

The $130 late filing fee was unnecessary because this application was filed with the Inventors' Declaration.

Enclosed is a copy of our Fee Transmittal form, Credit Card Payment Form and acknowledgement postcard indicating a payment of $1,380 when the application was filed. The Fee Transmittal Form and the acknowledgement postcard both indicate that the Inventors' Declaration was filed with the application.

The $1,380 filing fee can be broken down as follows:

Basic Filing Fee	$300
Examination Fee	200
Search Fee	500
Extra Claims Fee	250
Late Filing of Inventor's Declaration	130

Total $1,380

Since the $130 late filing fee paid by applicants was unnecessary, applicants respectfully request a refund of the $130 fee.

Please credit the $130 refund to our Deposit Account 18-1743 or our credit card account.

Respectfully submitted,
